

6.01 UNIFORM DRESS CODE STANDARDS

The following is a list of apparel in compliance with the Uniform Dress Code. You may also visit the website for a list of approved apparel. All clothing apparel is to fit properly, be modest in nature, and should be kept clean and presentable. Shoulders, stomach, back, and midriff should be covered at all times. All bottom attire must be worn appropriately at the waist. TCPS will treat students and expect them to represent themselves as the gender into which they were born. Their gender will be determined and defined by their genotype and phenotype. Genotype is the set of genes/genetic composition one possesses at birth. It includes full hereditary information. Phenotype refers to the set of outward, observable appearance and characteristics of an individual, i.e., body weight, hair length, proportional ratio between hips and shoulders, or behavioral qualities.
